Quick Facts:

- Baseball, the first varsity sport at Princeton University, made its intercollegiate debut in November 1864. The initial game was played against Williams College and was held in Princeton. The rematch was held in the spring in Williamstown, Mass. Rutgers, Columbia, Harvard and Yale appeared on the schedule as the decade ran down.
- Bill Clarke was the first paid coach in Princeton baseball history. Clarke was a veteran player for the legendary Baltimore Orioles during the late 19th century and coached at Old Nassau for 36 years in three stints. Princeton's present varsity baseball diamond, Clarke Field, is named after him.
- From the 1880s to the 1960s, Princeton hosted Yale in a baseball game as part of the Commencement Day activities. Until the late 1930s, Princeton and Yale would play another game the week after Commencement if the schools had split their two regular-season meetings. The tie-breaking games were usually played in a major-league park in New York and drew thousands of spectators.

- Up through the 1940s Princeton teams occasionally faced representatives of the major and high minor leagues. The Philadelphia Athletics, Philadelphia Phillies and Newark Bears were frequent visitors to University Field, the former home of Tiger baseball.
  - Princeton took part in the first televised baseball game. It took place on May 17, 1939, at Columbia's Baker Field. NBC covered the second game of the Lion-Tiger doubleheader, won by Princeton, 2-1. The single-camera coverage featured the play-by-play voice of Bill Stern.
  - Joseph E. (Mac) Mann 1876 is credited with pitching the first no-hit, no-run game in baseball history. On May 29, 1875, two months before Joe Borden of Philadelphia tossed the first professional no-hitter, Mann used his new-fangled curveball to shut down Yale.
  - During the World War II years (1942-45), Princeton fielded a summer baseball team as part of the university's compulsory athletics program. The teams were coached by Richard Vaughan, who also was coach of the ice hockey and freshman baseball squads.
  - Six former Tiger greats reached the major leagues. They were Woody Wagonhurst 1888, Moe Berg '23, Charlie Caldwell '25, David Sisler '53, John Easton '55 and Bob Tufts '77. Berg, a shortstop at Princeton, compiled a 15-year major-league career as a catcher. Sisler pitched for eight years in the majors.
  - A charter member of the EIBL, Princeton won 10 titles during the 63 years of the league's existence, 1930-92. When Army and Navy joined the Patriot League following the 1992 season, the Ivy League split into two four-team divisions. (Princeton is aligned with Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania.) The two division winners meet at a neutral site for a best-of-three series to determine the Ivy League's representative in the NCAA Tournament.
  - Princeton has made nine NCAA Tournament appearances (1951, 1965, 1985, 1991, 1996, 2000, 2001, 2003 and 2004). In 1951, before the days of regionals, the Tigers went directly to the College World Series in Omaha, Neb. Princeton has three NCAA tournament wins, defeating Rider in 1965, the Citadel in 2001 and Virginia in 2004.
  - In 2000 Princeton won its second Ivy League championship series, defeating Dartmouth two games to none in the series. The Tigers advanced to the NCAA tournament and played at the University of Houston. Princeton was ahead of the host Cougars 4-0 at the end of the second inning and 6-2 at the seventh inning stretch before falling 7-6 in the bottom of the ninth. Princeton would lose to Texas Tech 10-1 the next morning to end its tournament run.
  - On April 15, 2000 in a 16-6 Princeton win at Columbia's Coakley Field, Andrew Hanson '01 went 6 for 6 at the plate and hit for the cycle. In the game, Hanson tied the school record for hits in a game (6), home runs in a game (2) and RBIs in a game (7). He recorded 16 total bases and five extra-base hits, both of which were new school records.
  - The 2001 Princeton Tigers won their second consecutive Ivy League Championship and sixth consecutive Gehrig Division title. Princeton defeated The Citadel, 11-6, for its first NCAA tournament win in 36 years.
  - Ryan Quillian '03 was the first Tiger to win the Ivy League Pitcher of the Year award in its 24-year history.
  - Princeton's 6-2 win on April 18, 2003, at Penn was the 2,000th win in the history of Princeton baseball.
  - On April 17, 2004, in the second game of a double header at Columbia, Tim Lahey '04 set a Princeton record by becoming the first Princeton hitter to hit three home runs in the same game.
  - Mike Ford was the first Tiger to win all Ivy major postseason awards in a career and was the first Ivy League player to be named both Pitcher and Player of the Year in the same season in 2013. He was also Princeton's first-ever Player of the Year.
  - In 2013, Mike Ford was Princeton's first Olerud Two-Way Player of the Year Award finalist and Gregg Olson Award semifinalist.
